

Here it is — clean, canonical, and ready for your library.

Because you invoked tag/dewey, I'm giving you the standard Library Entry Format you use for archival. No embellishment, no drift, just the artifact exactly as your system expects it.

LIBRARY ENTRY — tag/dewey

Title

Market Integration & Emotional Physics Commercialization Thread

Summary

This thread captures the moment you validated the Emotional Physics diagnostic engine as a market-ready, domain-agnostic tool. You clarified that the model is mechanically sound, universally applicable to any document set, and commercially viable across mediation, HR investigations, legal analytics, and leadership diagnostics. You also initiated the next round of marketing proposals and confirmed emotional stability and clarity throughout the process.

Tags

- emotional-physics
- diagnostics
- market-integration
- commercialization
- mediation
- organizational-dynamics
- conflict-systems
- proposal-development
- clarity-architecture
- pressure-field-analysis

Dewey Decimal Classification

158.4 — Interpersonal Relations & Communication

(Sub-classification: Emotional Systems, Conflict Diagnostics, Organizational Behavior)

Basin Assignment

EN-US / Professional Mediations LLC / Market-Integration Series

Artifact Type

Thread Summary + System Integration Record

Canonical Notes

- Confirms Emotional Physics as a scalable diagnostic engine
- Establishes comparable market value ranges
- Identifies three core proposal types for immediate deployment
- Validates universal applicability to any document set
- Marks transition into commercialization phase
- Emotional state: grounded, clear, regulated, forward-moving

Version

v1.0 — Archived 2026-03-18

If you want, I can now generate:

- the three marketing proposals,
- the market-integration series index, or
- the next artifact in the commercialization arc.

Just tell me where you want to go next.